Elijah Harper was born on March 3, 1949 at Red Sucker Lake in northeastern Manitoba, the son of Allan B. and Ethel Harper. He was educated at residential schools in Norway House, Brandon and Birtle, Manitoba. He attended secondary school at Garden Hill and Winnipeg; in 1971 and 1972, he studied at the University of Manitoba. Later, he worked as a community development worker, supervisor for the Manitoba Indian Brotherhood, and program analyst for the Manitoba Department of Northern Affairs.

In 1978, at the age of 29, he was elected chief of the Red Sucker Lake Indian Band (now Red Sucker Lake First Nation). In 1981, he was elected as Member of Legislative Assembly for the Rupertsland constituency, a position he held for the next 11 years. In 1986, he was appointed to cabinet as Minister Without Portfolio Responsible for Native Affairs, and in 1987, as Minister of Northern Affairs.

In 1990 while sitting as opposition member in the Manitoba Legislature, he blocked the Canadian constitutional amendment known as the Meech Lake Accord. He cited the lack of adequate participation and recognition of Aboriginal people in that process. Later that year, he won the Stanley Knowles Humanitarian Award - the same presented to Nelson Mandela of South Africa. He was also voted as the Newsmaker of the Year in Canada for 1990 by the Canadian Press.

His international work has taken him to Great Britain, the International Court of Justice at The Hague, the European Parliament in France, South Africa, South America (Brazil and Chile), and numerous places in the United States. In 1992, he attended the launching of the International Decade for Indigenous Peoples at the United Nations in New York, as well as the Declaration of International Indigenous Day in the same city in 1997. In 1996, he went to the Moral Rearmament (an international peace organization) Jubilee Anniversary in Caux, Switzerland, and later attended meetings on Reconciliation in both Australia and New Zealand. He continues to be a strong advocate for indigenous and human rights.

In December 1995, Mr. Harper called for a Sacred Assembly for promoting Aboriginal justice through spiritual reconciliation and healing between non- and Aboriginal peoples. The Sacred Assembly was successful in bringing together many people from across Canada and represented the elders, women, youth, political and spiritual leaders in all faiths. As a result of the Sacred Assembly, the Canadian government, through the Governor General, declared June 21st as National Aboriginal Day to recognize Aboriginal people in Canada.

He was awarded the National Aboriginal Achievement Award in 1996, and the Order of Merit from St. Paul's University in May 1998 (Canadian Institute of Conflict Resolution). Other awards include the Order of the Sash from the Manitoba Métis Federation, and the Gold Eagle Award, an outstanding citizen recognition from the Indigenous Women's Collective in Manitoba.

*Elijah, 6 years old
Red Sucker Lake*

In January 1998, he was appointed by the Privy Council as Commissioner for the Indian Claims Commission; he resigned in October 2000. He is now an activist, promoting human and Aboriginal rights, a registered lobbyist/consultant/advisor to Aboriginal organizations, a public speaker, and involved in charitable work with World Vision in Tanzania, Kenya and the Republic of China (Taiwan).

Letter of Thanks and Acknowledgement

We would like to say Chi Mii Gwetch to Chief and Council for their sponsorship in the Rain Dance Sing on April 27, 2013. It's an honour knowing that our leaders and community members are a diverse group who acknowledge and support Cultural Gatherings and Traditional Healing Ceremonies.

We would like to give an extended Mii Gwetch to the Grandfathers, Drummers, Singers who travelled from up north and to Sharon Plain, Stephanie Rogers, and Darren Wrightman for their kind gestures and donations in an unexpected situation.

The generous donations of feast foods and refreshments are also very much appreciated. Thank you to all who helped make this experience a huge success.

Homemade Pain Cream

You Will Need:

- Pan or double burner
- Whisk
- Measuring equipment (cup, scale, etc.)

Ingredients:

1.5 oz. beeswax

1/4 cup coconut oil

1/2 cup oil of choice

E.g.. olive, grape-seed, etc...

Essential Oils

(You can use your own combination):

- Wintergreen
- Eucalyptus
- Lavender
- Peppermint
- Clove

Directions:

Add beeswax, coconut oil, or your choice to pan.
Turn to medium-low heat and melt down slowly.

Remove from heat and as your mixture cools you can add 1/4 cup of water* depending on the consistency, for a more lotion type texture. leave as is for a thicker cream. If you add water be sure to stir well. *Note: if you add water the shelf life will be less.

After the mixture has cooled some add your essential oils. It is normal for it to still be in a liquid state. Then transfer it to your storage container of choice with a secure lid and allow it thicken.
It is now ready for use!

If the texture is thicker than you like make sure you try it before changing anything. As soon as it hits your skin it usually melts and blends in.
However, if you would like it to have a softer look you can whip it with a whisk or mixer.

Can Be Used For:

- Sore muscles
- Arthritis
- Joint Pain
- Inflammation
- Pulled muscles

PROTECT YOURSELF AGAINST TETANUS

What are the symptoms of tetanus?

The first symptoms of tetanus are stiffness that moves quickly through the body, including the jaw (lockjaw), neck and stomach. Tetanus can cause problems with breathing and swallowing. Tetanus is extremely painful. As the disease progresses, it can lead to seizures and death.

How can my child catch tetanus?

Tetanus is spread in our environment, usually when the germ enters your body through a break in the skin—even a tiny, everyday cut. Tetanus bacteria is relatively common and lives in the dirt, dust and soil that is all around us—in our yards and at the playground.

WHAT IS TETANUS?

Tetanus is an acute and often fatal disease caused by a toxin released by bacteria present in our environment. The bacteria enter the body through breaks in the skin or wounds caused by contaminated objects. The toxin that is released into the body affects the nervous system, causing painful muscle spasms that can affect the ability to breathe.

TETANUS INFECTION

Most individuals associate tetanus infection with rusty nails, but tetanus infection can occur from a minor scrape or puncture while gardening, renovating or an animal bite.

TETANUS PREVENTION

Being fully immunized is the most effective way to prevent tetanus.

- Tetanus immunization is part of the routine schedule for childhood immunizations in Canada.
- Tetanus immunization is recommended for individuals of all ages, with booster shots every 10 years.

- Adults who have not received immunizations during childhood require 3 doses as part of an adult primary immunization.

To avoid tetanus infection, individuals should also:

- Wear protective gloves, clothing and footwear while gardening or renovating.
- Be mindful when using tools that can cause injury or puncture the skin.
- If injured, immediately clean wounds thoroughly with warm water and soap.

TETANUS IMMUNIZATION IS SAFE AND EFFECTIVE

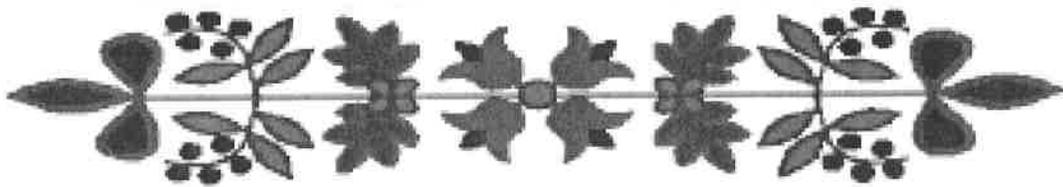

Tetanus vaccines are safe and effective and can benefit people of all ages.

Talk to your doctor, nurse, pharmacist or public health office about tetanus immunization.

Self Care for the Summer Workshop

Self care is personal health maintenance. By identifying "healthy & unhealthy activities", learn how to have more balance in your life with effective self care strategies for healthy living and building a positive self esteem. You can't take care of others unless you also take the time to take care of yourself. With step by step goal setting inspired with a "30 Day Challenge" each day do something good for yourself. Shift from a "can't do" to a "can do" attitude and focus on what you can do for healthy living. It's all about taking baby steps. If you could make yourself a promise to do "1" self care activity every day, in 30 days you would have made a 30% improvement! The key is to achieving balance between your responsibilities, stresses and self care activities. With the exciting power point presentation, workbook and activities you will be able to write your own personal "Self Care" plan for healthy living.

Inspiration Rock Workshop

Enjoy painting, stenciling and decorating a garden rock to remind you of the importance of positive thinking in your life. When you look at a rock, what do you see? Look closely and see that it has formed character with chips and scrapes from its journey and yet still remains "solid as a rock" symbolizing inner strength. Respecting maintaining a positive attitude, challenges won't break us they can actually help make us stronger when we reflect on our life journey and appreciate the lessons learned! Be inspired decorating your rock as a foundation for your "Self Care" goal setting success! Transform your garden into a positive energy healing place to relax and journal your dreams and as the seasons change, you can bring your Inspiration Rock inside your home to display or use as a door stop to remind yourself that the door to opportunity it always open and you hold the key to your success!

7 Fun Indoor Activities

When times are tough or fast-paced, it's very tempting for anti-TV/Game parents to give in. Here are some low-maintenance activities for kids to do on rainy days or when you just can't find the time to get outside. Join in on the fun if you're able to make time!

1. Make a tent. Or a fort. Every kid loves them. It can be as simple as draping a few old sheets over some dining room chairs. Give your kids some trail mix or healthy snacks and a flashlight, close the curtains to the room and turn out the lights, and have them tell each other stories. Throw a few stuffed animals into the fun to keep things from getting too scary!
2. Challenge them to take apart an old appliance (like an old phone) without breaking it. This requires a screwdriver so it might be best saved for older children. Hands-on experience is the best learning tool for kids.
3. Play with newspaper. Make origami cranes, butterfly wings, hats, or even big gobs of newspaper to use in a snowball fight. Picking them up (and putting them in the recycling bin!) is a bit of a chore, but that can be a challenge for the kids, too.
4. Challenge them to clean the house the eco-friendly way. It helps to start out cleaning by yourself and asking your child or children for help. Younger ones especially can't wait to do what you're doing and impress you. Use a spray bottle filled with water and a couple of tablespoons of apple cider or white wine vinegar (don't add lemon juice if you're working near fabrics as it might bleach it) to clean windows and most smooth surfaces. Rather than paper towels, use rags.
5. Play Memory. Collect 20 items and lay them on a table. Have your child look at them for 1 minute before covering them up and letting them write down all the items they remember in 5 minutes. Have a few batches of items on hand (preferably from the same area in the house to make clean-up easier). Play several rounds.
6. Make edible play dough with:
 - 1/3 cup margarine or butter
 - 1/3 cup light corn syrup
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1 lb. powdered sugar
 - Food coloring (optional)
 Mix the first 4 ingredients and then add sugar. The kids will especially enjoy kneading the dough. Divide them into portions and add food coloring. Refrigerate and eat later. Although some people may think this is a waste of food, Play-Doh contains more chemicals and comes with plastic packaging that hurts the environment a lot more than some flour and sugar, if your kids don't eat it. These household ingredients make this play dough much cheaper than store-bought brands, too.

7. Make edible finger paint with corn syrup, food coloring, and paper. Let the painting dry for a day. No chemicals and a mess that's considerably easier to clean up!

Chi-Miigwetch,
Bonnie Plain ~ Editor

News from St. Clair United Church . . .

Boozhoo! For all of the 13 years we have lived in our house in Brights Grove and for decades before that, a honey-locust tree has stood proudly in the front yard. Recently it became obvious that the tree was dying; it had been hit by lightning once and lost a limb and rot had begun in that spot and caused the old tree to creak and groan its protest at each big wind. To provide safety for the house and inhabitants, the tree had to come down. And so it did, last week.

Now our front lawn is wide open and the possibilities of what to do with the space are endless. Yet we are hesitant to make firm decisions on landscaping. Joe and I look at the expanse of green and say, "How about..?" or "What if we..?" It will take us a while to live into the future after the familiar past.

That is a truth of life. We become comfortable and when shocked out of that comfort are unsure of what comes next. Change, let's face it, is difficult. Over these past weeks and following my decision to leave St. Clair, I've heard from folks who are anxious for the church here in Aamjiwnaang. It will require conversations ripe with wisdom and grace to discern the future. Some of you may wish to be part of those conversations when you look at the new landscape and dare to dream!

So, we have come to both an ending and a beginning. My ministry here is finishing and the wide open future is before you! It is exciting and it is stressful, almost the two in the same breath. This is a time of change for you and yes, for me as well. I want to thank you all for the patience and grace with which you welcomed me into your midst. The learnings over five years have been many and I will take them with me on the journey of life. You are wonderful teachers!

Please know that I carry your stories in my heart and you will always be included in my prayers. I especially pray for the people of St. Clair in this time of transition.

With much respect and care, I bid you be good to one another!

Rev. Carolyn
