Ojibwa village at Sault Ste. Marie, Paul Kane 1846.

There were seven stopping places along the Migration Journey after the prophets told of the coming of the light-skinned race. The journey took several generations and by the time they got to the 4th stopping place they heard the new race had arrived on the East Coast. Families remained at chosen stops to populate the area and today there are many Bands of Anishinabe that still reside along both sides of these waterways—

Our Deepest Gratitude

The family of Elsie Maness would like to say Chi-Miigwetch to our Beautiful Community of Aam-jiwnaang, our family has been humbled with all your thoughts, prayers, and your generosity through donations, flowers, and food offerings.

Special appreciations to Irene Bois, Sheila Firth, Rhonda Bois, Norma Maness, Linda and Reynold Williams. We feel that those beautiful songs that were sung to her at the Hospice, truly helped our mother make her journey to be with her God. We will always keep those powerful songs close to our hearts. We are also very grateful to Patty Gilbert for you special prayers of healing for our mother.

Miigwetch to the maintenance crew, for the setting up of the lodge, for our sacred fire, and to all the fire keepers; Chris Smith, Kyle Maness, Ty Bressette, Jo-Jo Maness, Darren Wrightman, Arno Yellowman, Alan Plain, and Terrance Walker.

Thank-you to all the volunteers that helped with the food preparations. Miigwetch to Brenda Maness and Mary Bird for taking the lead in bringing together the feast after the 'Celebration of Life' service. To the staff of the Day Care our gratefulness, for all your service in the kitchen.

We would like to extend a very special thank-you to our Uncle Errnol Gray and his family for all their loving support, and also our aunt Janice Rising and her family for all their loving support, We Love You dearly, that words just can't express, as our mother would say to infinity.

Chi-Miigwetch to Carolyn Wilson-Wynne for all your support through our mother's struggles, and for sanctifying her 'Celebration of Life'.

Your kindness and love will be forever cherished by our family.

James Bartleman Aboriginal Youth Creative Writing Awards

Submission deadline is May 31

The James Bartleman Aboriginal Youth Creative Writing Award recognizes Aboriginal youth for their creative writing talent.

Every year up to six Aboriginal students each receive the award of $2,500.

The award is named after the Honourable James Bartleman who was the 27th Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, serving from 2002 – 2007. Mr. Bartleman was the first Aboriginal Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. The award was set up as a legacy to his efforts in promoting literacy among Aboriginal youth.

Submission process

Who is eligible?

To be eligible you must:

- be 18 years of age or under
- self-identify as Aboriginal
- attend a school in Ontario
- be a resident of Ontario
- be the author of an original creative writing piece (for example: short story, poem, essay, play or song) that has not in any part been copied.

Categories

There are two age categories:

- Junior: up to 12 years of age
- Senior: 13 – 18 years of age.

There are three geographic categories:

- fly-in community
- on reserve
- off reserve (do not live in a fly-in community or on a reserve).

A junior and senior recipient is chosen from each geographic category. A maximum of six awards are presented each year.

How do I make a submission?

You can submit online or download the form:

- PDF (print, complete and mail to the Secretariat)

When is the deadline?

The deadline is May 31 each year. If May 31 falls on a weekend or holiday, submissions are accepted the following business day.

You may make your submission at any time. Eligible submissions received after the deadline will be considered for the following year.

How are recipients selected?

An independent selection committee of individuals from Aboriginal communities reviews the submissions and recommends the award recipients.

How are the awards presented?

Recipients will be invited to attend an awards ceremony in the Legislative Building in Toronto.

Need more information

Refer to the submission form to get more details about program requirements.

BIKE HELMET SAFETY

Bike helmets for children and youth

When your child starts riding a bike, or taking part in any wheeled sports such as in-line skating, skateboarding, or riding a scooter, the most important safety measure you can take is to make sure she wears a helmet. The best way to encourage your child to wear a helmet is to wear one yourself.

Many children and teens are injured while riding a bike. While most injuries are broken bones, the most serious are ones that affect the head and brain.

In several provinces, anyone under the age of 18 must wear a certified helmet when cycling.

- The best way to encourage your child to wear a helmet is to wear one yourself.
- In several provinces, anyone under the age of 18 must wear a certified helmet when cycling.
- A bike helmet is a single-impact helmet, which means that once it has been in a hard fall, it must be replaced.

What kind of helmet does my child need?

Your child needs a helmet with an approved standards label. This label certifies that the helmet design has been tested by the manufacturer to protect your head. You can find the label inside or on the helmet.

Helmets sold in Canada are certified by CSA (Canadian Standards Association), CPSC (Consumer Product Safety Commission), Snell or ASTM (American Society for Testing and Materials).

A bike helmet is a single-impact helmet, which means that once it has been in a hard fall, it must be replaced.

How do I find the right helmet for my child?

- When you buy a helmet, take your child to the store so he can try on different ones.
- For the best protection, the helmet must fit properly and should be lightweight so your child's head and neck can support it.
- The helmet should sit comfortably around your child's head without falling over his ears and eyes. The distance between the front of the helmet and your child's eyebrows should be two of his finger widths.
- The straps should go in front of and behind his ears, and fasten snugly under his chin.
- For an example of how a helmet should fit, see this Parachute Canada diagram.
- Remember to check your child's helmet at the beginning of every bike season to make sure it still fits properly.

Can I use a second-hand helmet?

Never use a second-hand helmet unless you know its history. It may have been in a crash, or you may not be able to tell how old it is. You should replace your child's helmet when it's older than five years, as the plastic becomes brittle with age.

 OPPORTUNITY
 to see John's presentation and purchase his book “The Once & Future Great Lakes Country”.
 John will be present to sign books after his presentation.

John tells the story of the Great Lakes Region's once Native landscapes and the current modern footprint. He takes us on an ecological journey through time, from the past glacial period through the magnificent woodlands, and prairies encouraged by the Native Peoples to the settlement trauma that has changed the regions landscape beyond imagination.

A story of an earthy paradise with superabundant wildlife diminished to extirpation and extinctions.

In conclusion, hear a cautious optimism for the future, what are the current trajectories of change and are we learning how to help nature restore itself?

Working committee will work closely with IEC providing vision, leadership and guidance with respect to gender equality to the whole of IEC organization.

Election Process

- each IEC member will appoint a woman to represent their community
- each appointment requires a letter of support from the respective communities' Chief and council or other recognized agency support.
- appointments will be brought forward to IEC's Board of Directors for confirmation.
- The term of an appointed member will be two years. A review will take place with the completion of one year

Selection Criteria

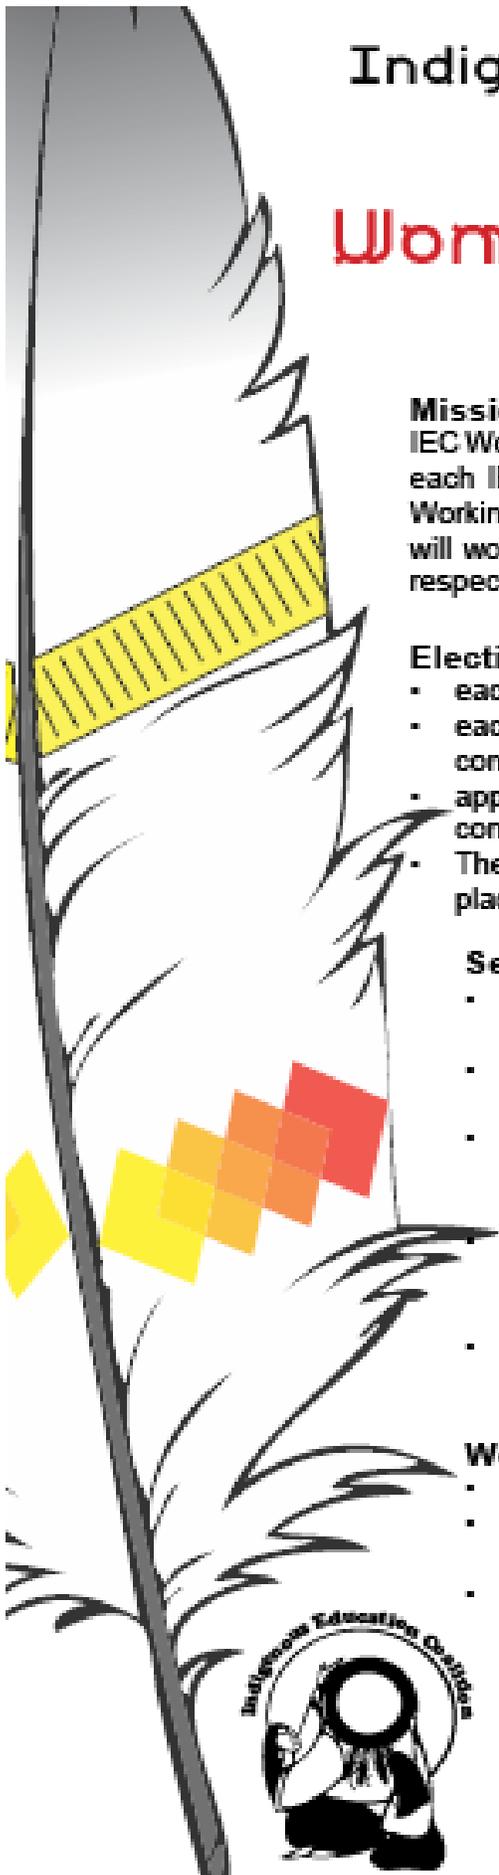

- Background in traditional, cultural, linguistic and spiritual knowledge of their respective nation is an asset.
- Background in community activities related to women's issues is an asset
- Background in education
 - May include having achieved post-secondary education, or working within the educational field
- Ability to speak their traditional language or have working knowledge of their traditional language is an asset
- Ability to travel and meet with Women's Advisory Circle at least two times throughout the year

Women's Advisory Working Committee

- composed of 4 members from Women's Advisory Circle
- one member from the Working Committee will be nominated to sit as a non-voting member of the IEC Board of Directors
- The term of an appointed member will be two years. A review will take place with the completion of one year.

There will be approximately 4 meetings per year.
Honourarium will be paid for attendance.

Please submit your letter of application to the Aamjiwnaang Education Committee, Attention: Vicki Ware

Indigenous Education Coalition's Women's Advisory Circle 2014

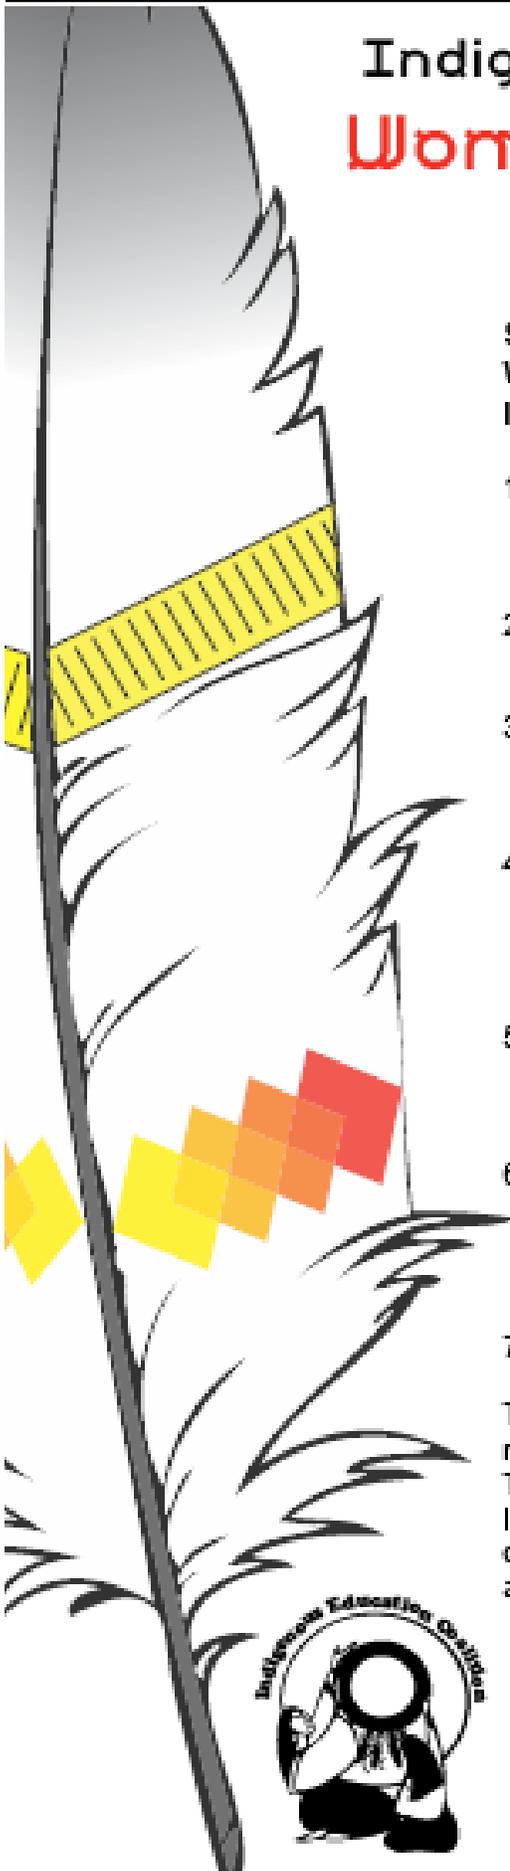

Seven Key areas in which Women's Advisory Circle Working Committee will be involved in the aspects of IEC are:

1. Liaise with Women's Advisory Circle on a bi-annual basis, updating IEC development, and the programs, projects and events they have been involved with
2. Participate in various programs, projects, and events developed and delivered by IEC
3. Act as a role model to young first nations women, sharing stories of overcoming difficulties, advice for future success in relation to dealing with gender issues.
4. Ability to work with IEC staff and consultants in developing educational materials with gender specific considerations in mind. This will require working knowledge of educational programs and materials
5. Ability to teach and promote the cultural and gender perspectives of the respective nations they represent. This may entail sharing knowledge of educational programs and materials
6. Ability to teach, promote, and share openly the values and perspectives of the community or nation they represent. This will be key in providing the guidance and leadership to IEC, in that the community perspective will be represented.
7. Active involvement in the human resource wellness plan of IEC

These are the seven main areas which will make up the roles and responsibilities of the Women's Advisory Circle Working Committee. This list lays out a framework of responsibilities; thus, this list is not limited. IEC will always maintain the highest regard and respect for our women members and would never require duties beyond their ability.

There will be approximately 4 meetings per year.
Honourarium will be paid for attendance.
