IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHIEFS OF ONTARIO POLITICAL CONFEDERACY RESPOND TO ABORIGINAL AFFAIRS DOCUMENT ON QUESTIONABLE INFRASTRUCTURE FUNDING REALLOCATIONS

TORONTO, ON (November 13, 2014) — First Nation leaders in Ontario are not surprised by the federal government's funding controversy. On Monday, the Canadian Press published an article revealing that Indian and Northern Affairs Canada (INAC) has been reallocating First Nation infrastructure funds.

The article referenced a document dated June 2013 to the Canadian Human Rights Tribunal (CHRT) on First Nations social and infrastructure funding. The document stated that INAC reallocated approximately $505 million in infrastructure dollars to social, education and other programs to try to fill the shortfalls in these areas. The Canadian Press referred to it as a case of "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

"This is typical of how First Nations have been treated by the federal government over the years, especially this current government," said Grand Chief Gordon Peters of the Association of Iroquois and Allied Indians. "There's an accountability issue here and it's representative of how the government approaches First Nations. INAC is not accountable to First Nations in any process. They introduce costly bills all the time that criminalize First Nations and no one has a problem with it."

Ontario Regional Chief Stan Beardy echoed Grand Chief Peter's sentiments, "First Nations are constantly under scrutiny over funding even though we have remote communities that continue to live in third-world conditions. Our schools are underfunded and the cost of living is tripled in northern communities but right-wing media continues to make us look like a tax burden to society."

The Chiefs of Ontario Political Confederacy met in Toronto yesterday where the Ontario Grand Chiefs and Independent First Nations discussed INAC policies and budgets.

"The communities in Treaty 3 are vastly underfunded for basic needs like water, housing, and access. We have a number of communities like Shoal Lake No. 40 that have been under boil water advisories since 2000 as reported by Health Canada's FNIHB Advisory Status Report," said Ogichidaa Warren White, Grand Chief of Grand Council Treaty #3. "I just don't understand how the government can take from infrastructure budgets to pay for other services when we're underfunded in every sector imaginable."

The Chiefs of Ontario Political Confederacy are concerned that infrastructure needs will exacerbate to $9.7 billion by 2018 if budget reallocations ignore real needs and the funding caps continue. "This is a classic example of hypocrisy, because First Nation funds are constantly under threats while they operate on absolute discretion. The federal government expedited the financial transparency act, which makes us accountable on two and sometimes three or four processes but the federal government doesn't have to be accountable to anyone," said Grand Council Chief Patrick Madahbee of the Anishinabek Nation.

"Keeping First Nations in poverty doesn't make economical sense," said Chief Ava Hill of Six Nations. "First Nations in Ontario alone have over 24,000 homes that are in desperate need of repairs where mould and poor insulation is common. Study after study has shown that there are major funding gaps in education even though the government is well aware that education is the best way out of poverty."

"In the communities that I represent single moms and families on fixed incomes are paying $16 for a bag of milk with no promise for new jobs because of remoteness and access. The cost to heat our homes with deficiencies in construction leads to early death rates and it would be considered a crisis in any other part of the country," said Grand Chief Harvey Yesno of the Nishnawbe Aski Nation.

The Chiefs of Ontario is a political forum and a secretariat for collective decision making, action, and advocacy for the 133 First Nation communities located within the boundaries of the province of Ontario, Canada. Follow Chiefs of Ontario on Facebook or Twitter @ChiefsOfOntario.

Medical Transportation Update

There have been changes to the medical transportation program over the last couple of years. One thing that you might not be aware of is that, yes, you can drive yourself to your medical appointment and have your travel slips signed. You will be eligible for a 'Private Mileage' reimbursement. This is to help offset your costs somewhat. For instance, a trip to Sarnia will pay $7.32. Don't forget to turn in your parking slips too! These are also eligible for a reimbursement.

If you have to use one of the contract medical transportation drivers, the medical transportation form still needs to be signed but the driver gets paid the contract driver rate of $15.20 for a trip to Sarnia.

All drivers/clients handing in slips, please make sure all information is filled out on the forms. Any information requested is needed when preparing our reports to Health Canada. Many times forms are missing vital information such as dates/times/locations/specialty. Thank you for paying attention to these details.

If you have any questions regarding medical transportation, please do not hesitate to contact the Health Centre at 519-332-6770.

Thank you.

Let's Talk For The Seniors/Elders

Prevent Your Prescription From Going Missing

Many cases that are investigated were crimes of opportunity. If you remove the opportunity for your medications to be taken you will reduce your chances of being a victim. In the home, elders are sometimes more susceptible targets to medicine theft. Family or friends may steal pills often or regularly, and in some cases, the elder is actually USED exclusively to get access to prescription drugs. Elders in the home may also be victimized by visitors to their residence, such as trade workers, delivery people and even domestic care workers.

- Educate yourselves.
- Communicate the risks of prescription drug abuse to your children and families.
- Safeguard your own medicines. Keep prescription medicine in a secure place, count and monitor the number of pills you have.
- Return old and unused medications to your local pharmacy.

Medication theft can affect everyone

The effects of drug theft from the elderly can be wide ranging and extremely problematic for the senior and society as a whole:

- The senior may be on a limited budget and may not be able to replace stolen drugs due to financial constraints.
- The elder may need the pills in order to live and if they go missing, may suffer an injury or even wrongful death.

Bluewater Health Withdrawal Management Program

The Withdrawal Management Program (WMP) helps people in Sarnia-Lambton who struggle with substance use, including drugs, alcohol, and/or prescription medication. The program supports a harm reduction approach to drug and alcohol addiction, and provides a safe and supportive environment to help people break the cycle of addiction. The free walk-in programs in Sarnia provide information about treatment, coping, harm reduction, and navigating available services. In addition, the Withdrawal Management Program will provide Aamjiwnaang with a variety of bi-weekly psycho-educational groups available to those struggling with substance use and support for their family members and/or loved ones.

Aamjiwnaang First Nation Notification System

From the Office of Emergency Planning – Aamjiwnaang First Nation

With colder temperatures and snow for the winter months, everyone should be prepared.

Winter weather conditions in Canada can quickly become dangerous, often with little or no warning. Winter storms and excessive cold claim over 100 lives each year in this country - that is more than the combined number of deaths caused by hurricanes, tornadoes, floods, extreme heat and lightning each year. Environment Canada issues a variety of severe winter weather watches and warnings to alert the public about the approach of hazardous winter conditions. Protect yourself and your family by learning more about the different kinds of winter hazards you might encounter, and how to plan ahead for possible emergencies. Winter driving calls for extra care, even in normal winter conditions. Snow and ice can reduce tire traction on roads, and heavy or blowing snow can make visibility poor. Whether you're shoveling or skiing, always be sure to dress warmly in cold temperatures and avoid over-exerting yourself. When your blood vessels are constricted by the cold, your heart has to work harder to pump blood through them and the added stress could trigger a heart-attack or stroke.

Blizzard Safety

When a blizzard hits, stay indoors and wait it out. If you must go outside, dress properly to stay warm. Tie one end of a long rope to your door and hold onto the other end to avoid getting lost in the blinding snow. When it comes time to shovel yourself out after the storm, take your time to avoid over-exertion.

Planning Ahead

Having a storm readiness plan in place saves valuable time if severe weather strikes. It is also important to maintain an emergency pack with a battery-powered flashlight, a radio, tools for emergency repair, ready-to-eat food, a first aid kit, blankets, and extra clothing. Keep your car gas tank full in case gas stations close down after a storm, and have some cash on hand in case bank machines and electronic payment methods are down. When a warning is issued, stay calm and follow your plan. In winter, be sure to stock up on heating fuel. Tune your radio to local stations to hear of any winter weather alerts or warnings that may be issued.

Staying Warm

If you must go outside during cold weather, make sure to dress properly. Wear multiple, thin layers of loose-fitting clothing to trap body heat and promote air circulation. Outer clothing should be tightly woven, hooded and water-repellant.

Mittens are warmer than gloves. Because most body heat is lost through the head, always wear a hat when it is cold outside. If it is extremely cold, cover your mouth and exposed skin with a scarf, neck tube or face mask. Pay particular attention to the wind chill index, which can create dangerously cold conditions. Be on alert for signs of frostbite by checking for numbness or white areas on your face and extremities (ears, nose, cheeks, hands and feet in particular).

Get medical assistance immediately if you notice signs of confusion, slurred speech, stiff muscles or uncontrollable shivering - all of which are symptoms of a potentially fatal condition called hypothermia. Hypothermia occurs when your body loses heat faster than it can generate it.

Enbridge donates $10,000 to the Aamjiwnaang Community

Enbridge is proud to support the community of Aamjiwnaang Emergency Planning Department with a donation of $10,000, towards the purchase of items for 72-hour emergency starter kits and a new communication system for emergency notification purposes.

“This donation will impact our community tremendously,” said Wilson Plain Jr., Emergency Services Planner, Aamjiwnaang First Nation. “The funds will allow us to purchase much needed equipment that we’ll use to further strengthen our emergency response and community notification capabilities. Our community residents will benefit by having a few basic items to build their own emergency kits for their families. These kits are to help families prepare themselves for emergency situations whether from natural disasters or from industrial spills or releases.

Our emergency planning department provides emergency planning, notification and response in order for residents prepare for emergency situations which are likely to affect our entire community. It is important for families to maintain individual preparedness for emergency situations of any type. Thanks to Enbridge’s support, each Aamjiwnaang home will receive items needed to help build their own emergency kits.”

The Enbridge Safe Community Program provides financial support to first responders and safety driven organizations, so they can acquire new equipment, obtain professional training and deliver educational programs. The initiative has provided funding to organizations across North America for over four years. Through investments in partnerships and human capital, Enbridge supports organizations that contribute to the economic, environmental and social well-being of communities near its operations.

IT'S A WHITE OUT

I'm a nervous winter driver. The first sign of snow of winter sends me into a flurry (excuse the pun) and leads to all kinds of drama going on in my head. I don't actually have to take to the road in order to experience white out conditions because I have already imagined it before I set out!

With that in mind I have been preparing in advance for the first days of winter. My car is in the garage getting the brakes checked and snow tires put on. This year, I have even cleared out my garage so that I can put my car away at night. All of this planning is helping me to feel more prepared for the snow that is sure to come and I have to admit that I feel a little better about it all now.

I'm wondering how I can use these same skills and get myself ready for Christmas. After all, the stores are already playing Christmas music and the heavy duty advertising has begun. According to the advertisers I will be so much happier with life if I just purchase the latest toy or gadget. Despite all of my best intentions it is so easy to get caught up in the frenzy of it all.

Yet, we know that Christmas is not about any of these things. It's not about buying and gathering more stuff. Christmas is a time to be together with friends and family. It's a time to care for people who are hurting and alone. It's a time to be reminded that the world can be different place. A time of hope and joy for a future that is yet to come.

We can get so busy that we miss the true meaning and literally get literally stuck in a white out. We can miss those moments of mystery and awe, the wonder of the wise ones, the gift of the shepherds, the voice of the angel reminding us to "not be afraid." We will miss the birth of the Christ child opening us up to new life and opportunities because we will be stuck in a blizzard of activity.

Yes, getting ready for winter driving has reminded me of all of this. Seems that if I am going to be open to the wonder of the Christ child I will need to get heart and my mind prepared.

How about you?

Blessings, Val

Even More Weather Words

Gimiwan na? - Is it raining?
 Gimiwan na megwaa? - Is it raining right now?
 Gimiwan na mego? - Is it raining right now?
 Miinange - Yes. Of course.
 Ehe - Yeah. Uh huh.
 Zoogipon na? - Is it snowing?
 Gaawiin - No.
 Gaawiin zaagaatesinooon - It is not sunny.
 Gaawiin gisinaasinooon - It is not cold.

 Gaawiin noongom gii-gimiwanzinooon - It didn't rain today.
 Gaawiin wii-zoogiponzinooon - It is not going to snow.
 Aaniin ezhiwebag? - How is the weather?
 Aaniin ezhiwebag aagojing? - How is the weather outside?
 Aaniin gaa-ezhiwebag bijiinaago? - How was the weather yesterday?
 Aaniin ge-ezhiwebag waabang? - How will the weather be tomorrow?
 Gaawiin ningikendanziin - I don't know.
 Amanji sa - I don't know.
 Gii-zoogipon na bijiinago? - Did it snow yesterday?
 Gii-booni-gimiwan bijiinago? - It stopped raining yesterday.
 Da-booni-gimiwan wiiba - It will stop raining soon.
 Wii-maajii-gimiwan waabang - It is going to start to rain tomorrow.
 Gii-booni-noodin - The wind stopped.
 Gii-maajii-noodin - The wind started.
 Wii-zoogipon na? Aazha maajii-zoogipon. - Is it going to snow? It is starting to snow already.
 Wii-maajibiisaa - It is going to start to rain tomorrow.
 Gii-boonaanimad - The wind stopped.

New Words:

na - question marker
 ehe - yeah aaniin - here: how ezhiwebag - happen (about natural events) aagojing - outside ningikendanziin - i don't know [it]

 amanji sa - i don't know;
 booni- stop maajii- start biisaa - rain, misty rain aanimad - strong wind blows
 boonaanimad = booni- + aanimad

Note.

Yes/no questions are questions to which the answer may be 'yes' or 'no.' These questions are formed from statements by placing the question word na after the first word:

gimiwan (it is raining) - gimiwan na? (is it raining?)

gii-gimiwan bijiinaago (it rained yesterday) - gii-gimiwan na bijiinaago? (did it rain yesterday?)

Wh-questions (questions with words: who, what, when, where, why, how) are formed in a different way. Special interrogative words must be used there (in our case: aaniin, 'how').

In wh-questions verbs, gii-, wii-, and da- change their form: gii- changes into gaa-, da- changes into ge-, and wii- changes into waa-.

More detailed information on these questions will be described later.

For denying the situation you have to place the word gaawiin ("no") before a verb, and add -sinooon or -zinoon at the end of a weather verb.

-sinooon is added to verbs, ending in a vowel, e.g.: zaagata - zaagatasinooon.

-zinoon is added to verbs, ending in a consonant, e.g.:
 gimiwan - gimiwanzinoon.

Preverbs. There are such words in Ojibwe - preverbs, which could not be used separately. Instead of it they are combined with verbs, creating new words:

maajii- (start) + gimiwan (it is raining) = maajii-gimiwan (it starts to rain)

boonii- (stop) + zoogipon (it is snowing) = boonii-zoogipon (it stopped to snow)

boonii- (stop) + aanimad (it is strong wind) = onaanimad (the wind stops)

There are very many preverbs in Ojibwe.

Visit the link listed below for more information.

The language being presented is using the Fiero spelling.
